

At Aqueduct, we recruit for SMEs in the Engineering and Manufacturing sectors.

Typical assignments would include:

- Engineering
- Sales and marketing
- Procurement
- Project Management
- Operations/Production

Why Aqueduct?

From the earliest civilisations, aqueducts have been the conduit for building our communities and institutions. We like to think it's rather a good metaphor for what a recruitment partner is here to achieve.

Our Thinking ...

Recruitment can cause and solve the majority of your problems. It's worth doing properly, given that your people are your greatest cost and asset.

We only work with SMEs because of the value we can add. We want to work with good businesses, not with big brands.

Finding people in the 21st Century is not difficult. Making them listen is the hard part.

Think of us as part of your business. The more we collaborate, the better the results.

Our Services ...

We find and attract the people that your business needs to thrive and grow. Aqueduct will take care of everything with an exhaustive, creative and transparent process, letting your people focus on their day job whilst we do the leg work.

Other than finding and attracting great people, we also offer a range of other services to help you hire well.

Training

We come to your business and show you how to improve your recruitment processes and avoid some of those recruitment fees!

Review

We review your current recruitment processes, challenges and successes, and provide recommendations and a structure to make more of those critical hires yourself.

Advertising

Done well, advertising is powerful and cost-effective – but it can be time-consuming and frustrating. We'll make your opportunities stand out, and manage the responses.

Graduate Recruitment

Recruit the people you need to start their careers with you through a structured, far-reaching and fixed-price campaign.

Let's talk about the challenges that you're facing, or what you want your business to achieve.

If you think your recruitment processes could be improved, get in touch and let's see if we're a good fit to work together.

07792 696860
contactus@aqueductrecruitment.com

